Voyager Jet Center Names Karl Foerster Vice President, Director of Operations

Experienced jet captain will manage fleet for leading Pittsburgh-based aircraft management firm

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2, 2004 — Voyager Jet Center, the leading Pittsburgh-based aircraft management firm operating from Allegheny County Airport, has named Karl Foerster vice president, director of operations.

Mr. Foerster, previously the firm's chief pilot, brings more than 28 years of commercial and corporate aviation experience to the operations role.

"Our business is all about safety and customer service," said Richard M. Ryan, president of Voyager Jet Center. "Karl's long tenure as captain and chief pilot has prepared him to deliver a level of sophistication and standardization that will enable Voyager Jet to continue our impeccable safety record and our reputation for extraordinary customer service."

Foerster joined Voyager Jet Center in 2003, after 13 years as a pilot with US Airways, flying the Boeing 737, the MD 80 and the Fokker 100. Before joining US Airways, he held a number of positions as jet captain in commercial and private aviation firms. Mr. Foerster is a native of Pittsburgh, where he lives with his wife, Tracey and their two children..

"Operations involve flight safety, training, flight scheduling and conformity," Mr. Foerster said. "Voyager Jet ownership and management have given me total support in establishing industry-leading operations and safety programs. Being qualified to fly numerous aircraft gives me unique insight as to the readiness, requirements and capability of our fleet. My familiarity with our combination of Gulfstream, Hawker, King Air and Beechjet aircraft helps Voyager provide the best experience on the most appropriate aircraft for every customer on every trip."
